Payment by personal cheque to be considered In recent years, the infrastructure in the swimming pool industry has seen a significant change. For many years, the idea of payment by personal cheque to the pool owner has been dismissed or frowned upon. Now, however, the idea of paying by personal cheque is being accepted as the most efficient and secure way to pay for pools. The reason for this change is that most of the personal cheque payments to the pool owner are due at short notice – usually, during the pool’s busiest period. When the pool owner receives the cheque, there is usually a delay as the cheque is not able to be cashed immediately. This means that the pool owner can not access the funds for a significant period of time. With the new pool bank account payments, when a personal cheque is received by the pool owner, they are immediately placed into the pool bank account, and can be used to meet the business’s day-to-day running expenses. If an owner decides not to use the funds to pay for operational expenses or to pay for pool construction, they simply can draw on the cheque, until the cheque is cashed at the bank. This way, the pool owner can access the funds in a secure way, and it will allow them to pay for ongoing operational expenses, and provide cash flow for their business. The best part is that the pool owner can, at any time, choose to close the pool bank account, and withdraw the funds at a later date. The pool bank account option has been available to pool owners for some time, but it was only recently that they became more widely available. Now, these new accounts are becoming a fast growing trend, with many pool owners now opting for the new personal cheque option, instead of the old way of paying by personal cheque. The new account is also providing cash flow, which has allowed pool owners to manage their cash more efficiently. The new pool bank account payments also allows pool owners to protect their assets. When pool owners receive their cheque, there is a certain risk that the cheque will bounce, or be stolen. Now, when a pool owner receives their cheque, they can open a new bank account, and be assured that their assets are protected from theft. The main benefit of a pool bank account is that they allow a pool owner to move their funds between accounts, and they offer a great solution to paying (video: 1:29 min.) Click the newly added header icon at the bottom of the viewer to send feedback in the context of the current drawing. Enhanced Linking: Linking documents or Excel spreadsheets to CAD drawings becomes even easier with four new shortcuts: “Ctrl+Alt+H,” “Ctrl+Alt+L,” “Ctrl+Alt+B,” and “Ctrl+Alt+E.” Each of these shortcuts has a different purpose. Use “Ctrl+Alt+H” to link to the first matching block in a drawing, even if it is not the first one. “Ctrl+Alt+L” links to the last matching block in a drawing, even if it is not the last one. “Ctrl+Alt+B” opens the recently added blocks in a drawing to make it easier to work on them. “Ctrl+Alt+E” links to a sheet in an Excel spreadsheet. Collaborative Drawing: Enable anyone to view and annotate your drawing. Anyone can now view and annotate your drawing from a browser or mobile device. Collaborative annotations are saved directly to the drawing. All annotations become part of the drawing, and you can continue to work on the annotation from anywhere. You can now collaborate on the same drawing with other users on a mobile device. For example, one person can view the drawing on a mobile phone while another person can use a tablet to annotate it.
