IBackup For Windows Crack + Free [April-2022]

You can now create custom URL Shortcuts that can be used for quick access to any file on your PC directly from the desktop. While the default shortcut remains for easy access, the new Custom Shortcut allows to browse any file on your system, no matter where it is located. Under Custom Shortcuts, you can easily create any URL for a file. You can either create a new shortcut for any URL or add the existing address of the file. In case there are multiple files with the same name, you can use different characters to separate the filenames before using the Custom Shortcuts for different purposes. For example, if your file has the name of file1.txt and file2.txt, you can use file1.txt and file2.txt as the separate URL to access the different files, respectively. In the same way, you can also create custom URL for an entire folder. Just copy the contents of that folder to the Custom Shortcuts window and create a new shortcut for a subfolder. No need to add the file extension when you create a custom shortcut, and it allows you to rename the shortcut as well. Once created, simply double-click on it and the associated file will be opened. You can customize any shortcut and make it your own by adding different icons, shortcuts, and menus. Also, you can make the shortcut a link to a new URL instead of opening the file, and you can set which program you want to open the file by default. New Windows version allows you to tile the shortcut on the desktop with any resolution. You can also combine the shortcut with the rest of the shortcuts as well. The well-known LogMeIn.com has been evolving from an online remote desktop management service to a more comprehensive solution that also includes file sharing and remote access. LogMeIn shared folders are the fastest and easiest way to share files between users. You can create shared folders on a local networked drive or on a remote FTP site. By default, the service gives you 15 days free for sharing files. If you want to use the service for more than 15 days, you can purchase a premium plan. The LogMeIn shared folder is especially useful if you are sharing files across the office. You can share the folder with anyone, and they can access files just as if they were sitting right in front of your screen. Also, the LogMeIn shared folder is much faster than the traditional file sharing methods, and it is secure.
