Q: Using the Grouping with LINQ. Hi I have a Linq expression like this: List l = ...; var result = (from gp in l group gp by gp.ZipCode into g select new { g.Key, Count = g.Count() }).ToList(); and this works without error, but I am looking for something like this: var result = (from gp in l group gp by gp.ZipCode into g select new { g.Grouping() }).ToList(); Which is not supported (as far as I know)..so how could I do this? A: This is a common question, and the answer is no. Grouping in linq-to-objects is simply syntactic sugar for most of the time. It's an alternative syntax for projecting your data into a form that can be aggregated on later. It's not an exact equivalent to the group by linq statement. Software for SME's and small businesses Merely 5 million small businesses will use Software as a Service (SaaS) by 2015. With this in mind, it's interesting to note that in 2014, SMEs constituted 90.8 per cent of total business sales and 88 per cent of employment in the UK. The small business market in the EU is even bigger, with an estimate of 1.23 million business locations - a staggering 30 per cent of the EU's move content between Premiere, Flash Pro and After Effects,. 4.0 General Release on September 9, 2013. Fans have been wondering what has happened to the lovable Rowdy Roddy Piper. He was supposed to return on December 6th on Monday Night Raw, but the return is being pushed back by at least a few weeks. Piper is telling fans on his podcast that his ankle injury is not related to the WWE, but rather is from a car accident. The Real Piper recently had his podcast released on the WWE.com website, and he addressed some fans concerns about his WWE career. He started off the interview by admitting that he can not wrestle anymore.

He still dreams of one day wrestling again, and hopes to get into a physical condition so he can one day return. “It’s sad because I think I can’t wrestle anymore. I think I can perform the way that I have in the past. I think I have the ability to do that. I know that that’s why the company keeps me on the payroll. I’m going to tell you the truth, as much as I would like to wrestle, I can’t [perform].” When asked about his idea of what he can do in the ring if he did get back in the ring, Piper said he would want to fight Hulk Hogan, who recently accused him of being gay. He said, “I don’t want to fight him, I just want to punch him in the face. You want to punch him in the face, then slap him on the side of the head. I’ll slap him on the side of the head, slap him on the back.” Piper acknowledged that he has been wrestling longer than Hogan, but he’d still hurt him. He added, “Hulk’s a big man. He’s 6’5”, 275 pounds, and I don’t know if I’m strong enough to beat him.” He then added, “I don’t care if he
