Biography Life and Career For more than a decade, Teun Aalbers has been designing his own portfolio projects. He has been involved in the development of international projects: designing a kindergarten school on the coast of Turkey, the "Monitor" (the façade of the International Business School "Pompeu Fabra"), small housing projects in Catalonia, Spain, and the "City Garden" (a therapeutic landscape in Nagpur, India). His work is characterized by his interest in exploring new territory. In addition to structures such as pools, park, and playgrounds, several projects are also concerned with theaters and theaters of the future, factories and laboratories, nursing homes and schools. The headquarters for the "Monitor" (the façade of the International Business School "Pompeu Fabra") in Barcelona, Spain. In 2005 he began to design objects for the private sector, such as a private space, a public park, and a water fountain. In 2012, he worked on "The Exchange" (a fairground attraction), and in 2014 he began to design consumer objects. To find further inspiration, in 2016 Teun moved to Mexico. He worked on a project that includes a monument to the founder of Villahermosa (Villahermosa means "Beautiful City") in Mexico. Soothing Soap Needs One More Step of Progress A while back I wrote about finding something missing in my skin care routine.

After reading my words, something about my shower caught the eye of one of the p's of life.

Wouldn't it be amazing to have everything I need at home all in one place ready to use? I pulled together a few items that I found on

Amazon and was able to find the missing ingredient, shower gel that's ready to use right out of the package. It's called Non-Scented Self Soothing Shower Gel and it's just like a creamy lotion only it doesn't smell at all.

(8-hydroxy-dipropylaminotetralin, 8-O-DPAT) were studied in striatal homogenates and in tissue sections from the sensorimotor cortex contralateral to the lesioned side. The 8-O-DPAT concentrations giving 50% maximum binding (EC50) in striatal homogenates from the lesioned side were significantly lower than those from the intact side, which indicates that the lesion affects the density of the D2 receptor.

The motor response to apomorphine, known to be mediated by D1 receptors, was not impaired in rats with unilateral 6-hydroxydopamine lesions of the nigrostriatal pathway.
