The data was originally stored in a different DB and has been migrated to my db (my.ini). A user of my site entered the data - he entered the date using the 24-hour clock and the 00.00 format. I want to change the date format to MM/DD/YYYY, and also remove the 00.00 and 24-hour time. How would I do this? A: You can use STR_TO_DATE to convert 24 to 12 hour and to change the date format, for example: str_to_date("06/25/2004", "%m/%d/%Y"); this will return an integer and you'll have to convert back to string: date("d/m/Y", $integer) So you could do: UPDATE table SET field = STR_TO_DATE(field, "%m/%d/%Y"); or UPDATE table SET field = STR_TO

When the Bangladesh air force began a massive operation to drive back militants from Cox's Bazar, the rain-drenched borderland was a dangerous place to be, especially for the thousands of Rohingyas who had fled their homeland after being targeted by a military crackdown. The Bangladeshi response to Tuesday night's attack on the Myanmar border in Rakhine State was so swift and so overwhelming that any Rohingya who were still there in the first hours of Wednesday morning were either killed or fled, as Mirwais Alam, a Rohingya refugee leader, put it. A Bangladeshi foreign ministry official confirmed to The Daily Beast that two of his brothers were among those killed. Nevertheless, as many as 3,000 Rohingyas made it safely to the village of Moria in Bangladesh, near Cox's Bazar, where they were taken into custody by border security forces, according to Burmese and Bangladeshi officials. But the international response to the deaths of the civilians and military personnel has been muted, with U.N. Security Council President and currently arch-competitor of President Donald Trump, Turkey's Recep Tayyip Erdogan, playing what many believe was a significant role. Erdogan, who declared last week that it was time to "eradicate" the Rohingya from Myanmar, also happened to be on an official visit to the United States. He told President Trump in a press conference Wednesday that Myanmar's treatment of the Rohingya was "shameful." Another remarkable U.S. silence amid the bloody fighting that has already claimed the lives of dozens of civilians, of military personnel and of journalists has led many to question whether U.S. intelligence has judged that the attacks on October 9th were directed by Islamic State or a local Rakhine militant group. The president's son-in-law Jared Kushner, who is currently the point man on Trump's team as they negotiate with North Korea, has come under scrutiny for his handling of the crisis, with observers saying he has been slow to take any action. The fact that Erdogan has pronounced for the United States to intervene to prevent a genocide was ignored by some observers who have accused Erdogan of playing a double e79caf774b

Autodesk AutoCAD 3D 2004 comes with AutoCAD 2004. Alteration of cortical EEG responses to olfactory stimulation in the rat. Olfactory processing in the olfactory bulb sends information via the thalamus, which in turn projects to the olfactory cortex. In the present experiments, changes in cortical EEG were studied in long-term EEG-monitored, awake rats, following a unilateral nasal intubation with odorants. The animals were perfused for histological demonstration of the retrogradely transported fluoro-gold solution (Figs. 1 and 2), and for analysis of the immediate early gene product, zif268 (Fig. 3). Rats were tested either during the first 1-4 days after intubation (Fig. 1 and 2) or during a post-intubation interval from 17 to 42 days (Fig. 3). The results show that the number of labeled cells in the piriform cortex increased from 1.6 ± 0.4 on day 1 to 5.2 ± 0.5 on day 4, suggesting new synapse formation. At the same time, the number of dendritic spines in the pyramidal cell layer was markedly increased.

During the later time period, the number of zif268-immunoreactive cells was significantly increased both in the piriform cortex and the entorhinal cortex, indicating that new cells were generated in the olfactory cortex. These results show that new synapse formation and synaptic plasticity occur in the olfactory cortex following olfactory stimulation, indicating the presence of neuronal modulation in the olfactory cortex. Cryptocurrency traders seemed close to reaching an agreement on bitcoin for another dip in July. Traders were discussing a decrease after volatility on the market dipped during the past week as the market continued to hold its ground with a price higher than $ 5,300. Bitcoin has increased its volatility and trading volume in the past week. By most criteria, the red line on the chart also showed a big increase in volatility, but Bitcoin Trading Volumes increased just 0.5% from Friday to Saturday. Bitcoin can have a dip in price in a short period of time, but the trading volume is still increasing, which indicates that the trade may be about to show
